Gordon praises council

FOOD

I think that this has been a productive year. Through our new Council positions (which I hope will be officially ratified at the September 20 General Meeting) we have established closer ties and contact with our local business people, and have shown the Parks-Department that we truly care about our neighborhood's green spaces and playgrounds. We have worked with the city to improve traffic conditions on E. Washington, Johnson, Gorham and North Baldwin.

False we've at least begun to reach out to our older neighbors, through our involvement with the Tenney Apartment residents, and through our work with the Senior Nutrition Site and Commodities program at Lapham school. It's been a pleasure to get to know some of the congregation at Christ Presbyterian Church. We all had a great time at the Ice Cream Social, and hope it will become an annual event.

Thanks to our energetic Membership/Social rep, TLNA has acquired a record number of new members. Thanks also to the Rummage and Pizza sales, our finances are in good shape, and most ably managed.

We're proud of our Newsletter--a tough job well and innovatively done. And much more.

I'd like to thank our fine Council. It's been a real pleasure to work with all of you. And finally, I find that the more I get to know our neighborhood, the more proud and pleased I am to be living here.

There is such a lot that our neighborhood association can do, in so many areas and for such a range of people. All the best of luck to the next TLNA board!

Since October of 1983, TLNA has been actively involved in the federal surplus commodities distribution program, which takes place on the last Thursday of each month at Lapham School.

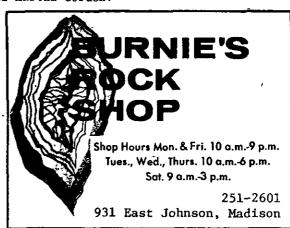

Commodities such as cheese, butter, flour, dry milk, corn meal, honey and rice are available to low-income households in our neighborhood.

It is long past time to thank the volunteers who have done so much to make this program work at the Lapham site. These people have given up their own time, have worked cheerfully and hard, and have demonstrated time and again their genuine concern for our neighbors.

So, to Eloise and Wendell Fair, Jim Mason, Alice and Chuck Miller, Don Enders, Teddy Kubly, Mark Heinrichs, Mardy Bishop, Sarah Tuttle, Kate Gordon, Emily Gordon, Japonica Jenkins, and all the others who have lent a hand, thank you.

Martha Gordon

The next TLNA Board meeting will be held at 7 p.m. on Thursday, Oct. 11 at the Christ Presbyterian Church on Gorham. Neighborhood residents are welcome to attend. If you have specific issues you'd like to place on the agenda, call Martha Gordon.

Johnson St. businesses continue upswing: Weaving Workshop opens at new location

The new East Johnson Business Association is meeting monthly, and attendance has been excellent. lobbied successfully to bring a new business into If you have a copy of this year's Isthmus Annual Manual, please look for our two page cooperative ad. It is a good illustration of the quality and diversity of our business community.

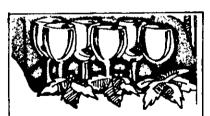

We are still busy working on our main objectives of helping established businesses find room to grow in the neighborhood and finding new businesses to complement them.

The Weaving Workshop's move from their original home above Whole Earth to their new location at 920 E. Johnson has been a great success. Their visibility has improved so dramatically that they are being hailed as the wonderful "new" business in the neighborhood. People are also discovering that they cater not only to weavers but have wonderful yarns and supplies for knitting, caning and basketmaking. They also offer a full schedule of classes in their new location near Wild Child.

Papendieck continues upholstery tradition

Papendieck Upholstery, one of our newest businesses in the East Johnson neighborhood, enhances our community in many ways. The attractive store front draws attention from neighbors and draws business from other areas.

Once inside, one finds a neat and well-ordered workshop and showroom. Greg Papendieck, the proprietor, is a master upholsterer who comes from a long line of German upholsterers. Beginning work at an early age in his father's workshop, Greg learned craft and business skills from the ground up. After working in his brother's business for a few years, Greg began his own business from his residence on the northeast side.

He quickly soutgrew the space and found a store front at 821 East Johnson St. Greg opened his shop on April 1, and since then, business has increased 100 per cent.

One of Greg's unique specialties is the servicing of major office buildings in Madison. This consists of repairing and re-upholstering all office furniture. Greg and his employe, Dennis, also handle private jobs and do all the work themselves. Turnabout on jobs is about 10 days.

At this point, Greg would prefer to have more room, but has no plans to expand. Expansion, he explains, would probably mean that he would become less and less available to personally work on the jobs. Since his goal and his guarantee to customers is personalized quality work, he is reluctant to give up hands-on work.

Strong support from other East Johnson businesses and from the neighborhood has surprised and pleased Greg. One of the owners of the Weaving Workshop, a neighborhood business, gave Greg an immediate job re-upholstering her chairs. The completed job was beautifully displayed in his window.

The East Johnson Business Association appreciates Greg's participation and input on its projects. Members of the association and his neighbors say: "Welcome, Greg, and may you be with us for a long time!"

Lunch hours changed at Marquette

Elementary School Hours

Marquette Elementary and Marquette Middle School share lunchroom facilities. Consequently, lunch periods must be scheduled beginning at 11 a.m. to provide ample time for serving all of the approximately 1,000 students enrolled in both schools.

So that elementary students may benefit from a more equal amount of morning and afternoon school time, a new school day schedule has been worked out. This schedule is changed from that followed in previous years. Families with elementary school-aged children should retain and follow this new schedule.

Red Cross offers Infant Saver CPR course

Madison School Community Recreation will be offering an "American Red Cross Infant Saver" CPR course the first Tuesday or Thursday evening of each month beginning this September. Participants will learn how to recognize and respond to infant choking, breathing and heart failure emergencies during the short four-hour course of instruction. It is recommended for new or expecting parents and family members. Students 13-years-old and past seventh grade are welcome. Classes will meet at the Lapham CPR Center, 1045 E. Dayton Street, Room 120, from 6:00 to 10:00 p.m. The fee is $10 per person or $15 per couple.

Madison Recreation will also be offering complete modular CPR courses at Lapham on Tuesday or Thursday evenings monthly beginning Sept. 18. Classes will meet two nights from 6:00 to 10:00 p.m The registration fee is $12 per person. Call 255-0021, extension 41, to register for Madison Recreation Infant Saver or Basic CPR courses.

Alcohol and Drug Abuse

Marquette School will be one of two Madison elementary schools piloting an AODA (Alcohol and Other Drug Abuse) program for young children. Principal Nancy Haugen and two classroom teachers attended a July workshop sponsored by the Department of Public Instruction. Goals for the workshop were to better prepare school staff to use AODA curriculum materials and to also enable selected staff to become trainers for other school personnel.

Early in the fall, all Marquette staff will participate in a school-wide inservice program to familiarize teachers with strategies and materials to use with their students.

Artist-in-Residence

Marquette Elementary will be the recipient of a Wisconsin Arts Board grant to sponsor an artistin-residence for students and staff. Beginning in January, Jamie McHugh, a local movement artist, will be joined by Susan Gordels, poet and visual artist, and Sylvia Wallich, musician, to provide creative dramatics and writing opportunities.

A Few Street Notes

Newsletter crew needs you

HELP! It's annual meeting time, on Thursday, Sept. 20, and we need some new volunteers. As newsletter editor last year, I've received some needed help, especially from typist Paul Fieber and layout assistant Bob Kann. Tena Browder of Cork N Bottle has helped track down some new ads, and many neighborhood folks too numerous to mention have helped by writing articles or by distributing newsletters, come rain, sleet or snow. For the coming year, we'd like to get a photographer and graphics artist to help out. And if you have an interest in writing or laying out pages, sign up early and beat the rush. The newsletter comes out every two months, so the time commitment is minimal.

Barn Dance? In the heart of our neighborhood? Yup, just down the road, at the American Legion Hall at 116 N. Few St. Kick up your heels to the Rattletrap String Band, on Saturday, Sept. 8 and Oct. 6. The action begins with a 6:30 potluck and the dancing starts at 7:30. Squares, circles, contras, waltzes, the schottisch, all are taught by experienced barn dance aficionados. Call Mike at 244-1540 or Bill at 249-1183 for further details.

NEWS FLASH!! The Creature from the Green Lagoonhas' been sighted again this summer! We've had numerous phone calls from shocked and startled neighbors, all verifying that The Creature is back. One resident shouted over the phone, "He's back, he's back! I saw him last night standing in the lagoon along Sherman Ave. He was at least 8 feet tall, with green scales, a lizard-like head, and a humped back. He had a Coke cup on one ear, a plastic 6-pack ring around his nose, and was sniffing a dead carp. I'm not kidding! I called the cops, and they said I'm crazy! But I'm not, I'm not... He's back, he's back!! Keep your children off the streets! He eats pet dogs and cats, and picnic baskets! Heaven help us, we're doomed!"

NEWSLETTER DEADLINE --- The next TLNA newsletter should be out by mid-November. If you have press releases, stories or ads to submit, they must be in by Oct. 26. Mail them to 450 N. Few St., Apt. 2, or stick them in my private mailbox (an old green and white ceramic pot on the ledge at the back of the building).

Tenant advocacy group may fold

Madison's grassroots advocacy organization, Community Fair Share, which grew out of the Madison Tenant Union, may be folding because of financial difficulties.

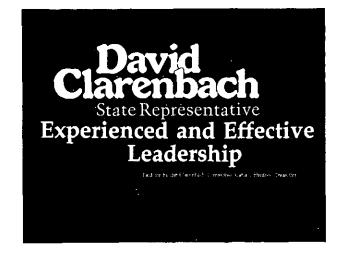

The group's board of directors, according to a recent Capital Times article, will soon recommend to the organization's 2,000 members that it cease operations. Treasurer Michael Ducey was quoted as saying that C.F.S. "never recovered from the abrupt cancellation" last fall of a $30,000 grant from the Catholic Campaign for Human Development. C.F.S. has blamed the cancellation on the "landlord lobby."

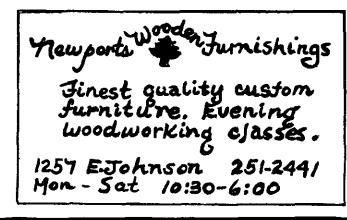

The organization had lobbied effectively over the years for tenant rights and protections, and helped pass a series of security deposit reforms last year. The orginal Madison Tenant Union was founded in 1969 to work for tenant rights. "It's ironic that our success helped bring about our downfall," Ducey said.

In a follow-up interview, Ducey explained that the C.F.S. membership could decide to over-rule the board's recommendation about the organization's fate.

He also reaffirmed C.F.S.'s contention that "arm-twisting" on the part of the Madison Apartment Association had convinced the local Catholic hierarchy to drop its financial aid for C.F.S.

PUBLIC FORUM SCHEDULED ON ALTERNATIVE FAMILIES

The Madison Equal Opportunities Commission will hold a Public Forum on Sept 20 at 7:00 p.m., at the Lapham School Auditorium, 1045 E. Dayton St.

The subject of the Public Forum is an "Alternative Families Ordinance" extending the same rights currently enjoyed by the traditional nuclear family to "alternative families." The ordinance would redefine "family" to include:

"Two or more adults unrelated by blood, marriage or adoption, who are involved in a mutually supportive, committed relationship and who are voluntarily registered publicy as 'domestic partners' in order to be considered, under municipal ordinances, as a family-together with their dependent children."
